Christian & Michael Sieger

Developing branding concepts and products with unique features while staying significant and success-oriented – this is the claim of sieger design agency, an enterprise which cooperates with national and international companies such as Dornbracht, Duravit, Fürstenberg or Lamy. For the managing directors and their team, high-quality design is not only about improving the shape, it is rather about an overall concept, embracing the interaction between economic, environmental, social and cultural dimensions. Smart functionality and at times archetypal styling distinguish the sieger design drafts

- to achieve this, the design studio applies utmost sensitivity, attention to detail and forward-looking thinking. The family enterprise initially founded as an architecture office in 1964 is today successfully run by the two brothers, Christian and Michael Sieger - the second-generation owners. A team of around 40 people implement the entire design process in an interdisciplinary manner. Harkotten castle, the headquarters of the company, is both a cultural stronghold and a creative workshop – a historic site with a modern sculpture park, which is an embodiment of the company's aesthetic values.

... meets FRÄNKISCHE brand quality

With its innovative profi-air ventilation system, FRÄNKISCHE has brought variety and flexibility onto the heat recovery ventilation (HRV) market: Since traditional manufacturers do not only offer classic round pipes but also flat tunnel pipe variants for installation, both existing buildings and individually constructed new ones can be furnished with high-performance, clean, sound and highly efficient HRV systems. In this field, the traditional family business enjoys a reputation as a reliable full-range supplier with high quality standards.

As an expert in the field of installation technology "behind the wall", the BUILDING TECHNOLOGY division by FRÄNKISCHE has long since become widely known among specialist dealers and installers. But what if, all of a sudden, it is all about "design for the wall" - as with a ventilation outlet in the living room? sieger design is the right partner for FRÄNKISCHE to bring on board: HRV technology meets premium design – quality meets quality. The starline ventilation grills set the right highlight with regard to heat recovery ventilation.
